Course Description
This course will critically examine Asian Americans through U.S.-national and transnational frameworks. We will explore a range of scholarly, literary, and visual texts in order to understand how the interdisciplinary field of Asian American Studies has shifted from an investment in domestic social justice concerns to consider how war, colonialism, and global capitalism have shaped Asian American lives historically and in the contemporary moment. This course pays particular attention to the ways in which Asian Americans negotiate these structural forces in their everyday lives. We will also consider queerness, silence, and expressive cultural forms in order to explore questions of agency and identity.

*Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies at UCSD**********

Many students take an Ethnic Studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of "interest" yet have no information about the major or minor and don't realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An Ethnic Studies major is excellent preparation for a career in law, public policy, government and politics, journalism, education, public health, social work, international relations, and many other careers. If you would like information about the Ethnic Studies major or minor at UCSD, please contact Yolanda Escamilla, Ethnic Studies Department Undergraduate Advisor, at 858-534-3277 or yescamilla@ucsd.edu.
