This course will provide you with a historical overview of the various social movements in the United States that have sought justice for those in the receiving end of racial violence, oppression, and marginalization. We will explore how these movements have intersected with other similar movements seeking justice for women, the working class, and gay, lesbian, bisexual and transsexual people. The analytical lens we will use here pays close attention to how these movements have ramifications not just at the level of the nation-state but also on local communities, as well as in connection to other communities and nation-states abroad (i.e., at the transnational and international levels). We will also consider the importance of cultural politics in any social movement. Finally, we will think about what these movements can teach us about how to create new imaginaries, new oppositional identities, and new intersubjectivities among the oppressed people of the world.

Required Readings

All readings for this class will be available for download via our course’s blackboard website which can be accessed at http://ted.ucsd.edu and through electronic reserves.

NOTE: Readings and assignments are subject to change. This syllabus is not a contract, so make sure you stay up to date on any possible changes to the readings or the schedules. If I do make changes, I will post an updated copy of the syllabus on the front page of our blackboard portal along with an “announcement” I will also mention it in class and email you notifying you of these changes ***

Attendance and Participation

I expect you to attend all class meetings and participate actively. I will take points off for every absence (I only make exceptions if you bring me a valid medical or written excuse). I will also take points off if you don't participate in class and show me that you're keeping up to date with the reading and the discussion. If you are a shy person and do not feel as comfortable as others speaking in class, please try to make up for this by stopping by my office hours for a chat, which also counts toward participation or by emailing me your questions or observations about the readings or lectures.

Critical Essays (2 of them)

You will have to complete two 5pp. long “critical essays” over the course of the quarter. I will send you a writing prompt for each of these units to help you think about things you can write about, or you can choose to come up with an original argument (as long as you clear it with me at least a week in advance before the paper is due). For paper deadlines, please see weekly schedule below.

Final Exam

The final exam, which will take place on Friday, December 14 between 3-6pm, will consist of short answer ID questions and several essay questions. I will give you a study guide a week before with possible ID and essay questions. All the questions that will be in the final will appear in the study guide so there will be no ‘curve balls.’ As long as you stay on top of the readings, take notes, and study, you will get a good grade in the final.

Late Work Policy

All papers will be uploaded to Turnitin.com via our course's blackboard website (i.e., ted.ucsd.edu). Late submission of assignments will be accepted only in verifiable emergencies, and only by arrangement with me prior to 2:00 p.m. on the due date. Assignments turned in late without prior approval will be graded down 7 points for each 24-hour period past the due date [no exceptions].

Academic Dishonesty

Scholastic dishonesty is any act by a student that misrepresents the student’s own academic work or that compromises the academic work of another. Examples include cheating on assignments or exams, unauthorized collaboration on assignments or exams, sabotaging another student’s work and plagiarizing. Plagiarism is presenting someone else’s work as your own, intentionally or not, by failing to put quotation marks around passages taken from a text or failing to properly cite quoted material. The University guideline for penalizing academic misconduct is determined by the professor of the course. Any act of academic dishonesty may result in one’s failing the course.
My Email Policy

Please email me with questions and/or concerns about the course. I will respond within the next 24 hours. If you have an important personal question such as inquiring about a grade or class discussion, please visit me during office hours or schedule an appointment with me.

A Note About Reading Volume

Research indicates that the average U.S. college student reads about 20 pages per hour. As you will notice below, I’ve assigned about 80-100 pages of reading per week (i.e., 4-5 hours of reading per week). Please make sure that you stay on top of the readings.

Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies at UC San Diego

Many students take an Ethnic Studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of “interest” yet have no information about the major or minor and don’t realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An Ethnic Studies major is excellent preparation for a career in law, public policy, government and politics, journalism, education, public health, social work, international relations, and many other careers. If you would like information about the Ethnic Studies major or minor at UCSD, please contact Daisy Rodríguez, our Ethnic Studies Undergraduate Advisor, at 858-534-3277 or d1rodriguez@ucsd.edu.
