Overview:
“Discourse” is an elusive term that refers to a particular way of talking about and understanding the world which shapes (and is shaped by) how individuals and institutions exist and act in it. Discourse is mediated through anything from an image and a film to public policy and everyday talk. Through a critical discourse analysis of a range of mediated texts, this course explores the relationship between discourse and the unequal distribution of privilege and power in the US and the world. We will engage multiple approaches to and applications of discourse analysis relevant to the field of ethnic studies toward understanding how institutions and talk work together to produce knowledges about race, gender, sexuality and citizenship. Most importantly, this course will arm you with the analytical tools to critically “read” discourses and apply them to your own political and intellectual projects.

*Attendance and participation constitute a significant portion of your grade. Arrive to each class session on time and stay for its duration. Tardiness and absences will result in the lowering of your grade.
*Active participation means thoughtful engagement with the readings/lectures, meaningful contributions to class discussions, and respectful collegiality toward your classmates and instructor. Visits to my office hours will also count toward class participation.
*As this is a fairly writing-intensive class, I strongly suggest that you see me during my office hours to discuss your drafts and/or visit the Office of Academic Support & Instructional Services (OASIS) for writing support. You can drop by OASIS on the 3rd floor of Center Hall, M-F 8am-4:30pm, or contact them at 858 534-3760 or oasis@ucsd.edu.
*All written work must be typed in 12 pt Times New Roman font with 1-inch margins. For proper essay format and citation guidelines, please refer to the MLA stylebook. Proofread, spell-check, paginate and staple all work before handing in.
*You will receive a guide for each writing assignment prior to its due date. Writing guides will be posted on TED.
*The midterm exam will consist of identifications and a long essay, covering readings and lectures covered between weeks 1 and 5.

Policies:
*All course requirements must be completed by the specified due date and time in order to pass the course and receive a grade. Any one missing assignment will result in a course failure. If you are taking the course P/NP, you must complete all assignments and receive at least a 70% on each.
*Ten points will be deducted from your papers for every 24 hours they are late. In order to receive an extension, you must contact me no later than 24 hours PRIOR to the due date and time. NO EXCEPTIONS! In the case of a medical/personal emergency, you must produce a doctor’s note or other documentation in order for an exception to be made.
*Please complete readings by the date they are assigned, and bring the text(s) with which we are currently covering to class.
*Turn off phones and refrain from text messaging during class. While the use of laptops is allowed, do not browse the internet or check Facebook and the like. Updating your status and ‘liking’ your friends’ links can wait until after class, right?

Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies at UCSD

Many students take an ethnic studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of “interest” yet have no information about the major or minor and don’t realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An ethnic studies major is excellent preparation for a career in law, public policy, government and politics, journalism, education, public health, social work, international relations, and many other careers. If you would like information about the ethnic studies major or minor at UCSD, please contact Yolanda Escamilla, Ethnic Studies Department Undergraduate Advisor, at 858-534-3277 or...
