Overview:
This course will examine the raced, sexualized and gendered experiences and identities of people of African descent in the United States. In particular, the course will examine the intersectionality of social, political and cultural constructions of race, gender, class and sexuality of African Americans from a historical perspective, and will attend to the ways static and or changing definitions of blackness have shaped and continue to shape Black masculinities, femininities, and sexualities drawing upon examples from media and popular culture.

Grading:

- Participation/Class Discussion: You should complete the readings for the week by Monday’s lecture. Bring your reading materials, notes, and questions each class meeting. Your preparation will help you get the most out of lectures and presentations. I expect democratic participation that involves careful listening.
and thoughtful speaking to contribute to a productive learning environment. Along with the UCSD Principles of Community (http://www.ucsd.edu/explore/about/principles.html) the following guiding principles are the basis for building a positive space:

- Assume nothing
- Respect is key (consider all experiences, perspectives and positions)
- Support your arguments by engaging the texts (academic settings necessitate scholarly claims)
- Disagree with the argument, not the person (no personal attacks!)

Late Assignments: I do not accept late assignments. Please read the syllabus carefully for all requirements and plan accordingly.

Attendance: Attendance is mandatory for weekly lectures, scheduled Mon, Wed, and Fri. The weekly lectures engage other materials in our discussions that are essential to the course and your assignments. Please arrive on time; being late will hurt your grade and is disruptive to your peers.

E-mail/ Office Hours Policy: You may email me at my UCSD e-mail address to schedule an appointment or if you have general inquiries about assignments or class logistics. For questions or concerns that cannot be handled via email, I will ask you to see me during office hours.

Reading Responses: Please check syllabus for due dates. Reading responses are a 2-page written analysis of the week’s readings. These responses move beyond simple summarization of the readings and identify key ideas/concepts/theories from the readings and class discussions.

Midterm/Final Exams: The Midterm exam will be short answer/essay format and will be take-home, due Friday, May 3 at the beginning of class. In lieu of final exam, you will turn in a critical reflection essay on a topic relevant to the course (5-7 type written pages). Paper must include at least 4 references from class, 2 additional academic sources, and 1-2 primary sources. Paper must also include a bibliography and proper citation of sources (more information regarding midterm and final exams will be provided).

Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies at UCSD

Many students take an Ethnic Studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of "interest" yet have no information about the major or minor and don't realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An Ethnic Studies major is excellent preparation for a career in law, public policy, government and politics, journalism, education, public health, social work, international relations, and many other careers.

If you would like information about the Ethnic Studies major or minor at UCSD, please contact Daisy Rodriguez, Ethnic Studies Department Undergraduate Advisor, at 858-534-3277 or d1rodriguez@ucsd.edu.
