Course Description:
This course provides a comparative and relational survey of some of the global and historical contexts in which life and death become sites of political significance, ranging from ways they may reveal dehumanizing circumstances to the expression of revolutionary social politics. We examine these contexts, including life under colonization and militarization, the commodification of the human body, and the legal and cultural invisibility of some lives, with an interdisciplinary approach which pairs readings in western philosophy, medical anthropology, history, postcolonial theory, and anthropology with film and fiction.

The goal of this course is to trouble the idea of a universally understood category of ‘humanity,’ specifically the idea that humanity and its protections are evenly accessible across differing historical and material contexts. Instead, we can approach the conditions of life and death as revealing important aspects of the politics and economics involved in whom gets to live a fully ‘human’ life. Students are encouraged to approach the films and novels on the syllabus with the same rigor as scholarly texts, and to identify conversations between the topics assigned each week, as well as within one given week’s readings.

Assignments and Evaluation:
Students are expected to complete the readings for each course meeting before they attend that class, and to bring their readings for a given entire week for each class meeting. Readings will not be reviewed in lecture and advanced reading is essential for understanding lecture material. Recommended readings are available through E-res (password: kv106) or as indicated on syllabus.

Grading is based on pop quizzes, one in-class midterm, one final project (including proposal due week 7, and final presentation), and class participation.

Participation: Attendance is mandatory and constitutes your participation grade. A maximum of 2 excused absences (note required).

Pop quizzes: A question from the reading for that class meeting will be asked. A correct answer passes and an incorrect answer does not. Pass=retaining your participation points. No pass=one point removed from participation grade at end of course for each no pass.

Midterm Exam: Format: In-class midterm composed of 2 questions with 500-word essay answers. They will cover readings, media shown in class and assigned out of class, and everything shown in student presentations. I will give hand out review guide during week 5.

Final project (Proposal+Presentation+Final Write-up): The Final project is a group-written and produced podcast. The project includes a proposal submitted during week 7 (for peer and instructor feedback). All students will join teams of 3-4 to make a 10-15 minute podcast. The podcast, with explanatory introduction, will be presented during weeks 9 and 10 (see Ted for full assignment). Folders are posted on Ted with materials to suggest topics and background relevant to class discussions and the week’s readings. The final write-up describes the process of research, writing and producing the podcast, and submission of a brief self-evaluation and evaluation for your co-presenters.
*It is highly recommended that each student follow one US newspaper, or news journal and one foreign newspaper or news journal on a regular basis. At least one exam will require the incorporation of current events and small-group discussions will utilize this exposure.
 If you wish to speak with me, I will be available before and after class, as well as in my scheduled office hours. I do not answer email except when extremely urgent.

Percentages and Grades:
20% - Participation
5% - Discussion leading
5% - Pop quizzes
30% - Midterm exam
40% - Final exam
Pass/Fail: Passing is C

Texts and media:
E-reserves and TED site. Films will be on reserve at Arts Library counter of Geisel.

Attendance. Every unexcused absence will affect your participation grade, and two excused absences are permitted before it affects your participation grade. In order to be counted as present you must arrive on time and stay until the conclusion of lecture or section.

Electronic Devices and Laptops. Cell phones and other electronic devices (PDA/iPod/iPad, laptops etc) may not be used for talking, texting, checking email or surfing the web. You may however use such devices to take notes in class and to search for information related to class discussion when prompted by the professor. Repeated use of electronic devices for other purposes distracts others and will negatively affect your grade.

ADA Statement. If you have a documented disability needing accommodations, please inform me and bring a notification letter outlining your approved accommodations. I will make all reasonable efforts to assist you. If, as a result of a disability, you cannot accept the content or terms of this syllabus, you must notify me in writing within one week of receipt of the syllabus. You may also seek assistance or information from the Office for Students with Disabilities, 858/534/4382.

Cheating and Plagiarism. Whether intentional or inadvertent, plagiarism is a serious violation. All work submitted in this course must be your own. The use of sources such as ideas, quotations, paraphrases, or anything written by someone else must be properly acknowledged and cited. If you have questions about the proper citation of sources, please ask your Teaching Assistants. Students who plagiarize, or who cheat on an exam, will be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with University policy. Students are expected to be familiar with UCSD’s Policy on Integrity of Scholarship, available at: http://www.senate.ucsd.edu/manual/appendices/app2.htm#AP14.

Discussion Ethics. This class is intended for students interested in challenging commonly held understandings of race, gender, sexuality, class, and nation. Given the nature of the course there will likely be a wide range of opinions. Ideally the course will prompt you to think for yourself and to raise questions about conventional views and received wisdom. However, please engage one another in discussion with respect and consideration. These norms are reflected in the UCSD Principles of Community that we are all expected to follow (http://wwwvcb.ucsd.edu/principles.htm).

Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies at UCSD

Many students take an ethnic studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of “interest” yet have no information about the major or minor and don’t realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An ethnic studies major is excellent preparation for a career in medicine, law, public policy, government and politics, journalism, education, public health, social work, international relations, and many other careers. If you would like information about the ethnic studies major or minor at UCSD, please contact Daisy Rodriguez, Ethnic Studies Department Undergraduate Advisor, at 858-534-3277 or d1rodriguez@ucsd.edu.
