PURPOSE
A student completing this course would learn how the intellectual justifications of modern political democracy developed from the ancient world, through the modern democratic revolutions, against the alternatives of fascism and communism, to the practical triumph of liberal democracy today.

The course is focused on historical texts, most of them philosophical. Context for understanding the texts and the course of democratic development will be provided in the lectures, and by background reading included in the course packet. We begin with the remarkable Athenian democracy, and its frequent enemy the Spartan oligarchy. In Athens legislation was passed directly by an assembly of all citizens, and executive officials were selected by lot rather than by competitive election. Athenian oligarchs such as Plato more admired Sparta, and their disdain for the democracy became the judgment of the ages, until well after the modern democratic revolutions. Marsilius of Padua in the early Middle Ages argued for popular sovereignty. The Italian city-states of the Middle Ages did without kings, and looked back to Rome and Greece for republican models. During the English Civil War republicans debated whether the few or the many should be full citizens of the regime. The English, French, and American revolutions struggled with justifying and establishing a representative democracy suitable for a large state, and relied on election rather than lot to select officials. The English established a constitutional monarchy, admired in Europe, and adapted by the Americans in their republican constitution. The American Revolution helped inspire the French, and the French inspired republican and democratic revolution throughout Europe during the 19th century.

The doctrines of liberalism, democracy, and socialism emerged and diverged in the early 19th century. The theory and the practice of representative democracy was refined, and democracy grew as the right to vote in elections was gradually extended. Liberalism and socialism converged in democratic practice in the late 19th century; but a strongly antidemocratic reaction emerged around the beginning of the 20th century and developed into fascist and communist tyrannies after World War One, each claiming to realize true democracy. Fascism or communism was endorsed by many intelligent and educated people, and democracy had few intellectual defenders during the years of the Great Depression. Fascism died with defeat of the Axis powers in World War Two, and communism died as an idea with the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1989.

You are expected to attend and to be completely prepared for each session. You must keep current or ahead of the readings as listed in the syllabus. Readings average about 20 pages per session.
CONTACTS
My office is at 322 SSRB*, tel. 534-7015, email gmackie@ucsd.edu (please email rather than telephone). Office hours are Wednesday, 2:30-4:30, or by appointment. *NOT SSB, see directions at http://polisci.ucsd.edu/~gmackie/ If you do not follow the directions carefully, you will not find it.

Course Announcements and Instructions will be posted at the Announcements function of WebCT. I’ll say in class when an important announcement is posted. It’s your responsibility to check the announcements regularly.

ASSESSMENT
Three unannounced 5-minute quizzes, 10% of the grade.
An in-class exam on Mon Oct 19, 25% of the grade.
A 5-page paper is due on Monday, Mon Nov 16, 30% of grade.
A final exam on Mon Dec 7, 7-10 PM, 35% of grade.

There will be three unannounced five-minute quizzes at the beginning or end of class, either on lecture content or on assigned readings. Makeups are not allowed except for university-permitted and fully-documented excuses such as genuine religious obligation or illness. If you arrive late, leave early, or skip the class, you will fail the quiz.

The first closed-book, closed-note exam will be cover everything up to that point. It will be one-half identifications and one-half essay questions. Identifications quote something in the readings or lectures, and ask you to identify the source of the quote and explain its meaning and context. It could be something from the readings that we never discussed, or something presented in the lectures but not in the readings. This is meant to assess how much effort you put into learning the content of course materials. The identifications will be neither obscure nor obvious (I’ll provide examples well before the exam). The essay questions are meant to assess how deeply you have thought about themes of the course.

The 5-page paper should be between 1000 and 1500 words (word-count determines). We will provide three topics on material in the second third of the course, and you may choose one of them, or obtain permission from the TA for your own topic. A paper above 1600 words is deducted one whole grade (e.g., from A- to B-). Papers are due no later than the beginning of class on the due date; any submitted after that time will be considered late. We will use Turnitin.Com. Late papers will be penalized ½ grade for 5 minutes to 24 hours late, and another ½ grade for each additional week (absent meeting in advance requirements for exceptions stated next). Lateness will be excused only if a) the T.A. is notified by email at least 24 hours before the due date and time, AND b) the student has a university-permitted AND c) properly documented excuse. Papers must have complete and proper citations, using any standard format. Papers should be well-organized, well-considered, and well-written. Solely at our discretion, we may require rewrites, in which case the grade is an average of the original and the rewrite.

The final closed-book, closed-note exam will contain identification questions from the latter two-thirds of the course, from Oct 21 on, worth 15% of the total grade, and a choice of essay questions on the whole course, worth 20% of the total grade. Many students take about two hours to complete the exam, a few take the whole three hours (it’s up to you). These will likely be the essay questions on the final exam:

- How do interpretations of Athens and Sparta inform our understandings of democracy?
- You are sent by the U.S. State Department to an authoritarian country such as Bhutan whose elite wants to transition to modern liberal representative democracy. What values and institutions would you recommend?
- What are the strongest arguments an opponent could make against democracy? How would a democrat answer the opponent?

The average grade in this class will be at least a B, and may be better depending on student effort. Success in the course requires mastering the readings, regularly attending the lectures, and thinking in depth about democracy. Those who skip the readings, the lectures, or both, won’t do well.

HONESTY

We will abide strictly by standards of academic honesty. That means you must not cheat on exams, must not plagiarize on the writing assignments, and must provide proper citations for written work that you submit, among other things. If you have any questions about what is permitted, consult with us, as ambiguities will be construed against the violator. I do not have a forgiving attitude about academic dishonesty.

- Library Reserves
  - The first two weeks of course readings are on UCSD library electronic reserve: http://reserves.ucsd.edu/eres/coursepass.aspx?cid=12897 (the versions in the course packet are easier to use than the ones on electronic reserve)
  - Syllabus, announcements, and calendar on WebCT. http://iwdc.ucsd.edu/password.shtml
  - WebCT for extension students: “Concurrent enrollment (Extension) students are not added automatically. Extension students should obtain a registration token from Extension student services or the ACS Help Desk. They can then register for a computing account online at http://acs.ucsd.edu/students/. Auditors may be given access by bringing an add computing slip labeled auditor to the ACS Help Desk (AP&M 1313, M-F, 8-4:30). Add computing slips can be requested by calling x44061 or acs-consult@ucsd.edu.

The course is text-intensive. You really must obtain complete access to the readings packet. You need to have texts available to follow and participate in class, and to prepare for exams.
