Introduction
The period since 1945 has witnessed the rapid development and spread of international organizations at the global and regional level covering a huge range of mandates including conflict and security, human rights, the economy and trade, health and the environment. Yet while there has been a seemingly inexhaustible appetite for the creation of ever more international organizations covering more areas of political life, there is also widespread criticism surrounding their performance and effectiveness. This course is designed to provide students with an opportunity to better understand the nature and purpose of international organizations and to critically evaluate their contribution to good global governance and international order.

Successful completion of this course will facilitate:

- A critical appreciation of the development of international organizations since 1945.
- An overview of a range of key contemporary challenges in international politics and critical appreciation of the contribution international organizations are making in addressing them.

Delivery Method
I will post a slide presentation together with recommended readings and videos to the module website in advance of each session. The expectation will be that you attend the webinars on a regular basis, have watched the presentations and undertaken preparatory reading and/or watched the recommended videos I have posted to the website. The anticipated private study time commitment for this course is 6-12 hours per week.

Course Assessment

Performance on the course is assessed through a combination of a webinar presentation and a course paper.

- Webinar Presentation (40%) – All students will present a 20 minute talk on an allocated case study and to provide a one page briefing document setting out the background context (which could be a combination of the historical, political and/or theoretical considerations), an overview of the actors involved and their agendas/strategies, and evaluation of the issues and debates surrounding the conflict/policy being analysed. Presentation duties will be allocated in the first session.
- Submission Deadline: the briefing document will be required 24 hours in advance of the presentation.
- Course Paper (60%) – All students will submit a 3,000 word paper on a case study of their choice. This could be the same as the webinar presentation or a different case study. The normal academic expectations concerning structure and presentation will apply, and the emphasis will be on demonstration of research and critical analysis.
- Submission Deadline: Friday 30 July 2021.

The expectations of the two assessment components will be discussed in detail in session 1. I do not use a grade curve. So if every student deserves A+, that’s what every student will receive. In broad terms, this is what I expect to see for each band.

A Excellent in terms of analytical focus, critical engagement and the balance of analysis, the range of materials used, and the style of writing and presentation.
B Good but not excellent. The difference between good and excellent is typically the level of focus and critical reflection i.e. showing deep awareness and understanding of the different sides to a discussion, evidence of reading and appropriate use of materials, in particular primary sources, a well-polished style of academic writing with correct use of grammar and punctuation together with full and correct references for attributed materials.
C Generally satisfactory in terms of the above but with some significant weaknesses in either some or all areas.
D Generally poor in terms of the above with some areas not meeting minimum standards.
F Does not meet minimum standards.

I use the following grading scale when recording grades.

I will seek to grade all work and provide written and/or oral feedback within 3 days of submission and request your patience on occasions when there are small delays.

Assessment assignments are due on the dates indicated above by 24:00 hours Pacific Time. Work submitted within 24 hours of the deadline will be penalized by a deduction of 10 marks. Work submitted within 48 hours of the deadline will be penalized by a deduction of 20 marks. Anything received beyond 48 hours will receive a mark of 0%.

If you are struggling to submit work by the required deadlines, please speak with me as soon as possible so that we can discuss what support is required. Extensions will be granted only on documented grounds of family medical emergencies.
You are expected to maintain high standards of academic integrity at all times. In other words, your work must be your own. Instances of plagiarism, cheating or other dishonest practice will be referred to the Departmental Office with a request that disciplinary action be taken against you. It is your responsibility to acquaint yourself with the University regulations on academic integrity and further information is available below.

General Learning Resources

There is no textbook for this course. I will however provide recommended reading and other materials for each class via the Canvas website. For those of you who are interested, I would suggest making use of the following publications as they provide a useful general overview on international organizations and global governance:

Academic Support
Should you require academic support, please contact me by email and I will respond as soon as possible. I am happy too to make time available for individual Zoom consultations where there is a need. Please remember though I am in the UK and there is a significant time difference, and keep in mind that I am a visiting lecturer and will not always be aware of the specific rules and regulations in operation at UCSD. There may therefore be situations where it would be more appropriate to contact Natalie Ikker, the Undergraduate Student Affairs Advisor.

The Inclusive Classroom

The TAs and I are fully committed to creating a learning environment that supports diversity of thought, perspectives, experiences, and identities. We urge each of you to contribute your unique perspectives to discussions of course questions, themes, and materials so that we can learn from them, and from each other. If you should ever feel excluded, or unable to fully participate in our class for any reason, please let me know, or please consult the Department’s “Report and issue” page for additional campus resources to support you, and diversity, equity, and inclusion in our classroom, and beyond.

Academic Accommodations and the Office for Students with Disabilities

Students requesting accommodations for this course due to a disability must provide a current Authorization for Accommodation (AFA) letter issued by the Office for Students with Disabilities (https://osd.ucsd.edu/). Students are required to discuss accommodation arrangements with instructors and OSD liaisons in the department well in advance of any exams or assignments. The OSD Liaison for the Department of Political Science is Joanna Peralta; please connect with her via the Virtual Advising Center as soon as possible.

Academic Advising

Students who have academic advising questions related to the Political Science major, should contact the department’s Undergraduate Advisor, Natalie Ikker, via the Virtual Advising Center. Academic advising questions often include (but are not limited to): add/drop deadlines, course enrollment policies, planning major and minor requirements, quarter-by-quarter plans, department petitions and paperwork, and referrals to campus and student support services.
