COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

› 15% Assignment #1  (5:00 PM, Sunday, April 29th)
› 50% Assignment #2  (5:00PM, Monday, June 11th)
› 35% Final    (Friday, June 15th 7pm to 10pm)

*Please note that assignments #1 and #2 are due on Sunday’s before our Monday class.

Assignment #1

You will write an analysis of a ballot measure that has passed in the state of California. You will be provided a list of possible ballot measures and will pick one to analyze. We will hand out more detailed instructions before the assignment is due. The paper will be graded on both substance and style. Each student must do his or her own work, adhering to university regulations prohibiting plagiarism and cheating.

Assignment #2

You will write a detailed plan to help an incumbent California legislator pass a significant piece of legislation in 2018. You will be provided a list of top legislative ideas pending before the state legislature and their authors. You will pick one of them and write a full legislative plan for that particular legislator. The paper will be graded on both substance and style. Each student must do his or her own work, adhering to university regulations prohibiting plagiarism and cheating.

Students will be required to use Turnitin to submit both written assignments and the final exam. Turnitin is an Internet-based plagiarism prevention service, which will be used to ensure academic integrity. The portal can be accessed directly through the course website. Hard copies of assignments will not be accepted. Professor Fletcher and the Teaching Assistants will provide additional information on the proper way to upload these assignments in subsequent class meetings.

Final Exam

The final will take place online Friday, June 15th from 7:00pm to 10:00pm. The final will be posted on the course website at 7:00PM and will be due via Turn It In in no later than 10:00pm. 5% points will be deducted for every 15 minutes the final is not submitted. No final exams will be accepted after 11:00pm.

The final is open book, open device and open notes. Students can complete the final from any location but will need to arrange a computer and reliable internet connection. Students should prepare as the final exam will covering all lectures, assigned readings, assignments and content of guest speakers. For students who have a documented finals conflict with another course we will offer an alternative final exam time. The final will be comprehensive of the materials presented and assigned readings for the entire course. This is not a group assignment—each student must do their own work and must cite any materials that is not your own original thoughts.
Students will be required to use Turnitin to submit all written assignments. Turnitin is an Internet-based plagiarism prevention service, which will be used to ensure academic integrity. The portal can be accessed directly through the course website. Hard copies of assignments will not be accepted.

Extra Credit
During the course, opportunities to intern or volunteer with a government office or political campaign will be made available to students. Any student who does eight hours of documented work for an elected official, government office, political candidate or organization that advocates for public policy/political change will have one point added to the final course score. (If your midterm, writing project, class participation, and final give you 89, your final score for the course will be 90).

While opportunities will be provided in class, students are not bound to only those presented through the course. Students should feel free to contact officials or organizations and request volunteer opportunities. However, the hours worked must be documented by date and time, along with a signed letter by a representative from that organization. Additionally, a written explanation of the work done and what was learned must be submitted. This summary and signed hours form MUST be submitted before the final exam begins to be eligible for extra credit. Again, for the extra point to be counted, students must submit a written memo that includes:
--Name of official or organization
--Total hours worked (minimum of 8, but no maximum)
--Nature of work performed
--Signature and title by verifying person at office of official or organization (digital signature acceptable)
--Students take on volunteer/internship. This can be attached separately or below the signature of person verifying if student would rather them not see overall comments. But this section should include what was learned, observed, overall feelings and anything that relates back to the class.
NO SUBMISSIONS WILL BE ACCEPTED ONCE THE FINAL EXAM BEGINS.

CLASS MEETINGS
Each class meeting will consist of a lecture and then a discussion section where a particular question related to the lecture will be addressed in a group discussion. Sometimes there might be two lectures and two discussion sections back to back.

Occasionally, we will have guest speakers. You may be tested on the content covered in their lectures and question and answers. While their content may or may not be on the test, you should learn from their presentation and work in specific examples cited by guests in your short answer, essays and class assignments to demonstrate an understanding of the practical realities of topics presented. Also use guest speakers as your chance to ask relevant questions about California Government and Politics today.

At the beginning of each class Professor Fletcher will present a brief “great moments or people in California politics” segment. These will NOT be included in the podcast. On the final you will have a moment to share your favorite (or whatever one you remember) to gain one extra point towards your exam score.

Professor Fletcher reserves the right to have attendance or sign in sheets utilized at a class with the results counted towards your final grade. If this situation arises it will be announced in the preceding class or an announcement will be posted on the TED site. It is your responsibly to monitor the ted site and check your email for course updates. Additionally, schedule changed and additional guest speaker can modify the course schedule. It is your responsibility to ensure you are utilizing the latest version of the syllabus. Any updates will be posted on the TED site and marked as an updated syllabus.
OFFICE HOURS
Office hours will vary week by week. During each class, Professor Fletcher’s office hours for the following week will be announced. A doodle schedule will be posted on the course TED site each week. Please reserve a 15-minute block on this doodle during the weekly office hours. The TAs will also conduct weekly office hours and make those times and location available. It is suggested you email TAs if you plan to attend their office hours so they can best be prepared to answer your questions.

GRADE CHANGES AND EXTENSIONS
All requests for grade changes must be made in writing, to Professor Fletcher, within a week of receiving the graded assignment. Requests must be typed and double-spaced and provide an explanation for the request and justification. Please note that a Professor review of a grade assigned by a TA may result in either a higher or lower grade (or grade could stay the same). There are no re-grades for the final.

Extensions on assignments and make-up exams will only be granted in cases of documented illness or family medical emergencies. Please contact Professor Fletcher as soon as possible if you need to request one. Appropriate contact for Professor Fletcher is email—not a tweet, facebook message, or note slipped under his office door.

Note: We will NOT grant any extensions because stolen or damaged computers. This does happen, so you should be in the habit of using the free DropBox program to automatically back up all of your work on the cloud whenever you save it so that you never lose it.

ACCOMODATIONS:
Students requesting accommodations for this course due to a disability must provide a current Authorization for Accommodation (AFA) letter issued by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD) which is located in University Center 202 behind Center Hall. Students are required to present their AFA letters to Faculty (please make arrangements to contact me privately) and to the OSD Liaison in the department in advance so that accommodations may be arranged.
