Course Overview

This class has three points of focus. First, we will study both the constitutional provisions and the Supreme Court decisions that demarcate the basic powers of the three branches of the federal government, and between the federal and state governments. Second, we will undertake a necessarily partial and speedy survey of certain landmark decisions settling questions of individual rights and liberties. Third, we will begin to develop some basic skills that will prove very useful for students who decide to enroll in law school.

Course Assignments and Grades

› 20% of your grade will be based on class attendance and participation.
› 20% will be based on a case brief, an outline of the course, and a checklist of course materials.
› 20% will be based on an in-class midterm exam.
› 40% will be based on an in-class, 2-hour final exam.
